PROBLEM \ SITUATION
Children of underserved communities are plagued daily with affects of drug use and peddling, criminal activity sexual promiscuity and gang problems. The affects of these problems are now evidenced by school failures and drop out rates being at an all time high. The drop-out rate is the highest among the surrounding districts.

Local community organizations have attempted to address the problem by creating after school tutoring and recreational programs. However, there is a greater need to increase recreation and education programs.

Ongoing recreation has been proven to reduce crime help kids stay in school, and avoid the consequences of criminal behavior. Implementing core values and life skills can bring out the 'best' in a child and can literally change their life forever. Therefore, these youth must be provided with positive experiences to help them stay in school and become successful in life. Core values and life skills reinforced through baseball can provide those experiences.
